

Altar Table

The classic Chinese altar table would have held a prominent place within the home and might have supported items of worship or treasured family heirlooms. This modern take on a classic design needs no elaborate adornment since the quality and high standard of perfection in construction and finish make this a treasured heirloom in its own right. True to the Chinese style, this table has a long and narrow top done in a gloss ivory lacquer which is then supported by statuesque rectangular post legs in an espresso walnut that hit the floor on plinth feet. The open legs joined by stretchers provide strength and structure to make this multipurpose piece a great foyer, sofa or serving table to compliment many environments for which it may be used.
